

Do you trust the Rudd government with border protection?

Over sixty boats with at least 2,600 people have arrived since August last year as a direct response to Rudd's weakening of Australia's border protection.

The alleged "refugees" themselves have said that they were attracted by Rudd's weak stance on border protection and the appeal of making it to the promised land of the big Centerlink.

The Rudd government is currently planning to refurbish two defence force bases into "refugee" hotels, expanding the Christmas Island facility to cope with the expected influx.

We really do not know who these alleged refugees are. There is a good chance of there being terrorists or terrorist sympathisers amongst them. They have already threatened to blow up a boat with 250 men, woman and children on board and we have seen it happen before at the Ashmore Reef boat fire.

All of the survivors of the Ashmore Reef explosion have been given permanent residency with some having received first-class medical treatment for their self-inflicted injuries at the expense of the Australian taxpayer.

The Rudd government, with the assistance of some Liberal MPs have voted in favour of not billing "refugees" for their detention. Not only do they get free accommodation and "culturally appropriate" food, they also get "pocket money" — and the only thing the Australian voter gets is more taxes to pay for it all.

It's clear that the Rudd government cannot be trusted on border protection and that the Labor Party does not have the best interests of Australians at heart. Join the Protectionist Party and help win back Australia from Rudd and his wreckers.

Join the resistance! Join the Australian Protectionist Party

We are offering free memberships to enable registration as a political party. Donations are welcome.

Name:

Address:

Post code: Phone:

Email:

PO Box 1452, Mt. Barker, SA 5251

Phone: 0431 739 260 website: www.protectionist.net

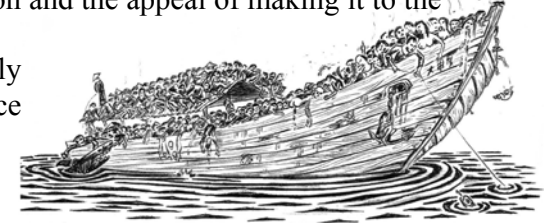

See the website for other contact addresses

Do you trust the Rudd government with border protection?

Over sixty boats with at least 2,600 people have arrived since August last year as a direct response to Rudd's weakening of Australia's border protection.

The alleged "refugees" themselves have said that they were attracted by Rudd's weak stance on border protection and the appeal of making it to the promised land of the big Centerlink.

The Rudd government is currently planning to refurbish two defence force bases into "refugee" hotels, expanding the Christmas Island facility to cope with the expected influx.

We really do not know who these alleged refugees are. There is a good chance of there being terrorists or terrorist sympathisers amongst them. They have already threatened to blow up a boat with 250 men, woman and children on board and we have seen it happen before at the Ashmore Reef boat fire.

All of the survivors of the Ashmore Reef explosion have been given permanent residency with some having received first-class medical treatment for their self-inflicted injuries at the expense of the Australian taxpayer.

The Rudd government, with the assistance of some Liberal MPs have voted in favour of not billing "refugees" for their detention. Not only do they get free accommodation and "culturally appropriate" food, they also get "pocket money" — and the only thing the Australian voter gets is more taxes to pay for it all.

It's clear that the Rudd government cannot be trusted on border protection and that the Labor Party does not have the best interests of Australians at heart. Join the Protectionist Party and help win back Australia from Rudd and his wreckers.

Join the resistance! Join the Australian Protectionist Party

We are offering free memberships to enable registration as a political party. Donations are welcome.

Name:

Address:

Post code: Phone:

Email:

PO Box 1452, Mt. Barker, SA 5251

Phone: 0431 739 260 website: www.protectionist.net

See the website for other contact addresses